Overview

Northview Public Schools provides its students access to a multitude of technology resources. These resources provide opportunities to enhance learning and improve communication within our community and with the global community beyond our campus. The advantages of having access to these resources are far greater than any potential downside. However, with the privilege of access is the responsibility of students to exercise appropriate personal responsibility in their use of these resources. The Northview Public School policies are intended to promote the most effective, safe, productive, and instructionally sound uses of networked information & communication tools. Northview Public Schools also makes a good faith effort to protect its students from exposure to Internet materials that are harmful or explicit. The Technology Department maintains an Internet content filtering device and software controls that meet federal standards established in the Children's Internet Protection Act (CIPA).

Digital Citizen

Northview Public Schools students use information and technology in safe, legal, and responsible ways. A responsible digital citizen is one who:

- Respects One's Self. Users will select online names that are appropriate and will consider the information and images that are posted online.
- Respects Others. Users will refrain from using technologies to bully, tease or harass other people.
- Protects One's Self and Others. Users will protect themselves and others by reporting abuse and not forwarding inappropriate materials or communications.
- Respects Intellectual Property. Users will suitably cite any and all use of websites, books, media, etc.
- Protects Intellectual Property. Users will request to use the software and media others produce.

Northview Public Schools provides an instructional plan to teach students appropriate online behaviors, including behavior on social networking sites as well as cyber-bullying awareness and response.

Expectations

Responsible use of district technology resources is expected to be ethical, respectful, academically honest, and supportive of the district's mission. Each computer user has a responsibility to respect every other person in our community and on the Internet. Digital storage and electronic devices used for school purposes will be treated as extensions of the physical school space. Administrators, or their designees, may review files and communications (including electronic mail) to insure that users are using the system in accordance with district policy. Users should not expect that files stored on servers or disks will be private. Users also should understand that school servers regularly record Internet activity in log files.

Some activities are expressly prohibited by law. Users are expected to abide by the generally accepted rules of network etiquette. The following guidelines are intended to clarify expectations for conduct, but they should not be construed as all-inclusive.

- Transmission of any material in violation of any local, federal and state laws is prohibited. This includes, but is not limited to: copyrighted material, licensed material and threatening or obscene material.

- Software and/or services may not be installed or downloaded on school devices without prior approval of the Director of Technology or designee.
- Use of computing resources for commercial activities, product advertisement or religious or political lobbying is prohibited.
- Users may be held personally and financially responsible for malicious or intentional damage done to network software, data, user accounts, hardware and/or unauthorized costs incurred.
- Files stored on district-managed networks are the property of the school district and, as such, may be inspected at any time and should not be considered private.
- Materials published for electronic publication must be for educational purposes. School administrators, teachers and staff may monitor these materials to ensure compliance with content standards.
